

I enjoy not being interrupted during dinner or my evenings with random sales calls. I was getting 2-3 calls a night from telemarketers prior to the no-call list. I think that the no-call list should be expanded to include political calls as well. During the last presidential campaign I was getting 8-10 of computer generated messages per day during the last 2 weeks of the campaign.

I would not support any weakening of no-call restrictions. Thank You.
